'CO'S COAL AND TIMBER YARD.

Shortly after two o'clock yesterday afternoon a sorious conflagration broke out at Messes. Black head and Co.'s premises at Tsim Tsa Tsui. were from six to eight thousand tons of cos stored in the sheds, and in close proximity was stacked 300,000 feet of lumber, the whole of the rate for a mile race. How the fire to hold his own. commenced no one saw, so far as can be ascertained, but there is only one explanation of its origin, and that is the explosion of gas which had generated amongst the coal. Suddenly a dense volume of smoke arose and spread out in umbrella shape, and in a moment the whole place was burning. The lumber blazed away like match-wood and threw out very flerod heat. Fortunately the wind was from the east and carried the flames away from the direction of the wharf, which otherwise could hardly have escaped destruction. The brig Swan, which had just discharged a cargo of coal from Australia, was alongside, and although with the direction of the wind there was little chance of her catching fire it was deemed prudent to get ready for hanling off. At the opposite end of the yard was a small house, occupied by Mr. Camoron, the wharfinger and storekeeper. Good service was rendered by party of soldiers in removing the contents of this house, most of which were got out in safety barring the damage from rough handling and loss by pilfering. The traditional gamin of Paris is popularly supposed to be a light-hearted imp of the streets with a strong dash of mischief in his composition and a taste for epigrammatic banter, commonly called chaff. The real gamin, however, is often a recidiviste or old offender, and a salaried champion of the nymphs of the pavement. _ In this double capacity he is always redoubtable and sometimes dangerous. A band of these pests of Paris have just been charged with a daring murder in the St. Martin district. They accosted a drunken workman, made him turn out his pockets, and, after having despoiled him of whatever little he possessed, threw him, out of sheer devilment, into the canal. The man was, of course, drowned, and his body was fished up the next day. He was a working tanner, named Dubée, and left a wife and two children. Strange to say, the crime was witnessed by a small boy and his sister, who were engaged stealing coal from a boat in the canal. The Zanzibar correspondent of the Bombay Gazette telegraphs on March 14th that the dis puts between Portugal and Zanzibar has oulminated in the bombardment of Mginamgo by the Portuguese men-of-war. The bombardment was contine ad until the whole town had been destroyed. The town is now a desolate mass of rains, no building of any kind having ascaped the general destruction. Mginamge, which is an important trade centre, is a purely Indian settlement, being inhabited almost entirely by natives of India, who control the trade and hold the greater part of the property in the place. The loss caused by the bombardment has fallen most heavily on the British Indian subjects, and the value of British property destroyed exceeds a hundred thousand dollars. Some fifty British subjects have suffered by the bombardment and are now enduring great privations, being homeless and without adequate food supply. The inhabitants generally are also in great distress. The action of the Portuguese has caused great excitement and indignation, and it is feared that notwithstanding the conciliatory attitude of the Saltan they will commit other acts of hostility. APPOINTMENT OF ROMAN CATHOLIC BISHOPS IN INDIA. ROME. 14th March. In conformity with the Concordat between
